

Article Publication Charges (APC)

FWU Journal of Social Sciences is an open access journal, available online. Its aims to encourage research culture on National and International level. It is funded by Article Publication Charges which are not for profit and the generated funds are invested to improve the services of the journal. These charges cover the various costs of publication, editorial and peer review processes, electronic hosting, archiving and indexing. The journal makes constant efforts in collecting and obtaining citations from various International agencies.

The authors are expected to pay the Article Publication charges for the working of the journal in an efficient manner. The Article Publication Charges are payable, once the manuscript is accepted by the editor for publication.

The Article Publication Charges are 15000/- which should be deposited in the following account number before publication:
